

SAN DIEGO'S NATIVE POLLINATORS

While eating nectar or collecting pollen, pollinators carry pollen from flower to flower, helping plants to reproduce. A pollinator is any animal that transfers pollen between flowers.

Here are 7 groups of pollinators. Each group shows an example of a pollinator native to California who's commonly found in San Diego.

BEES

BUTTERFLIES & MOTHS

WASPS

FLIES

BETLES

BATS

HUMMINGBIRDS

